

2018 to 2020

Q10051308 - I updated the ARC-1200 Windows XP (x86) driver to version 6.20.00.28 and in device manager. I also get one other device called "Raid dummy device other SCSI device" appearing in question mark which does not accept the driver.

This is a virtual device for Archhttp utility communication. You need to manually install the driver for this device on XP and Windows 2000 old version OS. The file name of this driver is arcvdev.inf in the driver package.
