2018 to 2020

Q10032003 - I was able to add the driver to windows, and I can see it in devices, but there is no post when booting to access the card. Can you help?

You can see the post of raid card only if raid card works with legacy bios mode and the motherboard is configured to allow option rom load. Please check the motherboard bios settings to make sure it is configured to support legacy bios from addon cards. Except bios console, you can install archttp for web management or install cli for command line management.
